Crime Stoppers Month January 2008

On behalf of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), I want to acknowledge January 2008 as Crime Stoppers month and to recognize those who contribute to the success of Crime Stoppers across Canada.

Crime Stoppers collects tips from the public on community safety issues and passes them on to the police for appropriate action. In doing so, Crime Stoppers and its local, provincial and national associations offer significant help to Canada's police officers in combating criminal activity.

This year, Crime Stoppers has selected Global Issues, Community Solutions as their theme. The RCMP is also committed to addressing global crime issues and to enhancing the key partnership between the community, media and police.

Tips received from Crime Stoppers have helped the RCMP and many other law enforcement agencies solve outstanding crime. Crime Stoppers in Canada is to be congratulated on achieving more than 150,000 arrests, clearing more than 220,000 cases, seizing more than 2.3 billion dollars in illicit drugs and on recovering more than 377 million dollars in stolen property.

We recognize and praise the efforts of the many people who volunteer countless hours in making Crime Stoppers such a successful program. On behalf of the RCMP, I would like to convey our appreciation and thanks to Crime Stoppers during this special month. The RCMP looks forward to even greater successes in the future.
